Number of Players: 2 or more...6 are ideal.

Game Gear: 3 dice, 1 dice cup (optional) and 10 counters per player

(Note: A counter can be anything if you have enough for all players: poker chips, pennies, dried pasta etc.)

Length of Game: You can expect to play at least 10 minutes per game.

How to Win: The first player to put all of their counters in the pot.

How to Play

Ok, let's say you've got 5 friends sitting around your kitchen table ready to play the Help Your Neighbor dice game. The dice game rules are easy to learn. To begin, everyone picks a number 1 - 6. Joe chooses 1, Sam is 2, Melissa is 3, Andrea is 4, Brian is 5 and you're 6.

(Note: If you only have 5 total players, don't assign the number "6" and ignore that number when it is rolled.)

Each player takes a turn throwing three dice. Let's say you roll first. Your throw results in a 2-3-5 roll. Sam, Melissa and Brian smile as they put a counter into the pot. The dice are passed clockwise. Joe rolls next and throws a 1-1-3. Lucky Joe! He rolled his own number. Twice. He puts two counters into the pot. Melissa puts another in as well.

Right now, Joe and Melissa are tied for the lead. Both have only 8 counters left. Joe passes the dice to the next player, Andrea, to roll. The first player to put all their counters into the pot wins.

Game Variations

If you've got more than 6 players, you can play the game with three polyhedral dice instead. Use three 8 sided or 10 sided dice instead. That way, you can assign the extra players a number over 6. With large numbers of players, reduce the number of "counters" each player receives to speed up the game.

To speed up any game without reducing the number of counters, increase the number of dice thrown to four.
